

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An optical module includes an interconnect board which has a base board and an interconnecting pattern formed on the base board; an optical chip which has an optical
5 section and an electrode which electrically connects the optical section and the interconnecting pattern; and a body material which holds a lens which concentrates light on the optical section. The body material is directly attached to the optical chip.